

PIMCO Emerging Markets Opportunities Fund

INSTITUTIONAL CLASS ACCUMULATION SHARES

Fund Description

The Emerging Markets Opportunities Fund is a diversified Emerging Markets strategy that is not tethered to a specific emerging markets debt index. The fund has broad flexibility to invest across geographies, sectors, and different emerging market segments without focusing on any single theme. The fund is designed to provide maximum total return, while reducing volatility and drawdowns. It utilizes PIMCO's extensive sovereign and corporate research in Emerging Markets which seek to uncover a broad range of investment opportunities and exploit market inefficiencies.

Potential Investor Benefits

This fund aims to deliver a more stable return profile (relative to traditional benchmarked products) and thus alleviates the need for investors to make market timing decisions. Further, the fund's discretion to move across the full spectrum of emerging markets fixed income opportunities removes the burden of making Asset Allocation choices within the asset class. Finally, the relatively lower volatility of the fund should also allow for larger allocations to emerging markets and (all else equal) boost overall realized portfolio returns.

Potential Fund Advantage

The fund is expected to provide a more stable stream of returns over a full market cycle by limiting the downside while capturing most of the upside potential of the asset class. Meanwhile, the fund seeks to generate market-like returns over a full market cycle and thus deliver higher Sharpe ratio than traditional emerging markets benchmarked products.

Risk and Reward profile

Credit and Default Risk: A decline in the financial health of an issuer of a fixed income security can lead to an inability or unwillingness to repay a loan or meet a contractual obligation. This could cause the value of its bonds to fall or become worthless. Funds with high exposures to non-investment grade securities have a higher exposure to this risk.

Currency Risk: Changes in exchange rates may cause the value of investments to decrease or increase. Derivatives and Counterparty Risk: The use of certain derivatives could result in the fund having a greater or more volatile exposure to the underlying assets and an increased exposure to counterparty risk. This may expose the fund to larger gains or losses associated with market movements or in relation to a trade counterparty being unable to meet its obligations. Emerging Markets Risk: Emerging markets, and especially frontier markets, generally carry greater political, legal, counterparty and operational risk. Investments in these markets may expose the fund to larger gains or losses. Liquidity Risk: Difficult market conditions could result in certain securities becoming hard to sell at a desired time and price. Interest Rate Risk: Changes in interest rates will usually result in the values of bond and other debt instruments moving in the opposite direction (e.g. a rise in interest rates likely leads to fall in bond prices). Mortgage Related and Other Asset Backed Securities Risks: Mortgage or asset backed securities are subject to similar risks as other fixed income securities, and may also be subject to prepayment risk and higher levels of credit and liquidity risk.
